

Dear Whoever Gonna Blow Up The World
A sketch comedy idea by Jonathan D. Steinhoff, 1.14.12©

Three kids in a treehouse clubhouse, TOMMY, BILLY and VIRGINIA, suddenly come up with an activity: collaboration on a secret letter addressed to “Whoever Gonna Blow Up The World”, to contain special instructions on the envelope: not to be opened by whoever that may be until one moment before that person actually performs the action.

TOMMY

But how's he gonna GET the letter, if he doesn't know he's gonna do it until it happens?

BILLY

I don't know.

VIRGINIA

But let's write it anyway. He MIGHT read it.

TOMMY

He OR she might read it.

VIRGINIA

A girl wouldn't – oh, okay, he OR she. So let's write it!

BILLY

Dear Whoever Gonna Blow Up The World....

TOMMY

Dear Whoever Is Going To Blow Up The World....

VIRGINIA

We aren't blaming you. You had terrible parents.

TOMMY

Who forbid you from using your Play Station for three days just because of one time you didn't get an “A”.

BILLY

Hey! What was that?

TOMMY

Nothing. Probably.

VIRGINIA

I think it was my heart beating. I really feel as if whoever is someday gonna REALLY blow up the world is REALLY gonna read this! I feel it! That person is REALLY gonna read this!

BILLY

He could!

TOMMY

Yeah!

BILLY

So, when you blow up the world....

TOMMY

It better be a really good reason.

BILLY

A REALLY good reason.

VIRGINIA

A REALLY good reason.

TOMMY

Yeah.... And person about to blow up the world, did YOU ever have a little brother named Peter who annoyed you all the time until you were glad he was too little to go into your treehouse clubhouse when you were sitting around having a really good time with your friends?

BILLY

Or maybe you have a sister.

VIRGINIA

Or a brother and a sister. He could have a brother and a sister.

TOMMY, BILLY and VIRGINIA continue coming up with things they want to include in this secret letter to whoever is going to blow up the world. They then put the letter inside an envelope and hide it somewhere in the treehouse clubhouse. They then climb down solemnly.

A moment later the before-mentioned little brother of Tommy, PETER, emerges from a hiding place with a devilish smile on his face, having apparently listened to the entire treehouse conversation. He uncovers the envelope, and stealthily climbs down from the now empty treehouse.

A Chiron indicates it is now 30 years later. We see the Earth from outerspace.

PETER

(voice-over) Maybe I should first read that letter Virginia, Billy and my stupid big brother Tommy were writing in their treehouse clubhouse 30 years ago. Oh, great, I forgot to bring it. Nevermind. I'll go ahead without it.

A moment later the Earth explodes.

THE END